P R O C E E D I N G S

1
2 THE COURT: Good afternoon. General Motors, Motors
3 Liquidation Company. Mr. Lederman?

4 MR. LEDERMAN: Thank you, Your Honor. Good afternoon.
5 Evan Lederman, Weil, Gotshal & Manges, for Motors Liquidation 6 Company. Your Honor, we have a light agenda today. We have 7 three items before Your Honor. Two are contested and one is 8 uncontested. The first matter is a motion to approve a 9 settlement with certain labor unions. The second is a lift 10 stay motion brought on behalf of Ms. Love, and the third is a 11 lift stay motion brought on behalf of Ms. Turk. If it pleases 12 the Court I'd like to present the uncontested matter, to which 13 the debtors and the movant have reached a stipulation, and then 14 I'll turn over the podium to Mr. Karotkin who will handle the 15 other two matters.

16 THE COURT: Sure. Go ahead.

17 MR. LEDERMAN: With respect to the lift stay motion 18 filed on behalf of Ms. Turk the debtors have reached an 19 agreement, which has been papered in the form of a stipulation 20 that we will present to the Court following the hearing, in 21 which the debtors have agreed to lift the automatic stay. In 22 this action, it's a state court action brought in Ohio for 23 breach of an express warranty issued by GM, the movants are 24 seeking to lift the automatic stay so that they can actually 25 dismiss the debtors, dismiss MLC from the state court action,

1 and, instead, proceed against New GM. As Your Honor is aware,
2 under the 363 transaction New GM assumed all express warranties 3 and claims that are brought thereunder. However, the Court in 4 Ohio will not allow the action to proceed forward unless there 5 is a formal order from this Court lifting the automatic stay.
6 So for those express purposes we've agreed to lift the stay.

7 THE COURT: That's fine.

8 MR. LEDERMAN: Thank you, Your Honor. That's all I 9 have. I'll now turn the podium over to Mr. Karotkin.

10 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Karotkin?

11 MR. KAROTKIN: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Stephen 12 Karotkin, Weil, Gotshal & Manges, for Motors Liquidation
13 Company and its affiliated debtors. If Your Honor please, 14 would you like to do the Love motion first?

15 THE COURT: I understand that counsel for Ms. Love is 16 on the phone. Am I correct?

17 MS. RAND-LEWIS: That's correct, Your Honor. Suzanne 18 Rand-Lewis representing Ms. Love and --

19 THE COURT: Okay, Ms. Rand-Lewis.

20 MS. RAND-LEWIS: -- her guardian ad litem in the 21 virtual interaction. I also have the proffer present, and we 22 did receive a call from Brianna Benfield, who I understand is 23 from the firm, represented by counsel, who's also president, 24 indicating that we'd reached a stipulation.

25 THE COURT: Okay. Now, somehow I thought this was in

1 the contested category, Mr. Karotkin. But it sounds to me like 2 you have an understanding.

3 MR. KAROTKIN: Yes, Your Honor, I believe we do. I 4 notified your chambers this morning that we are prepared to 5 enter into a stipulation with counsel to modify the automatic 6 stay to the extent that there is available insurance.
7 Originally, Your Honor, it was our understanding there was not 8 insurance, that this was totally self-insured. After a lot of 9 digging, a lot of investigation, speaking with New GM, we 10 determined late yesterday that there is insurance with respect 11 to this particular claim, and we are prepared to enter into, 12 with counsel, the traditional type of stipulation which would 13 modify the automatic stay to permit them to proceed to the 14 extent there is insurance coverage and limit the recovery to 15 that. We apologize that it took so long to get there, but we 16 did get there, and, as I said, it did require a fair amount of 17 investigation, and to the extent that counsel was 18 inconvenienced by that we do apologize.

19 THE COURT: Okay. Ms. Rand-Lewis, you wish to be 20 heard?

21 MS. RAND-LEWIS: Thank you. My position, Your Honor, 22 is this stipulation that's represented by counsel on the record 23 verbally is sufficient, so we've submitted an order correcting 24 the motion. The order could be modified by the Court, simply 25 eliminating the sanctions requested in number 5 and the order

1 should issue forthwith.

2 THE COURT: Well, you got very technical in what you
3 said, and you can work with the debtor in coming up with a 4 mutually agreeable stip or consent order. If it provides for 5 your lawsuit to proceed with you going against the insurance 6 policy alone that is, as Mr. Karotkin said, a very traditional 7 way of resolving these in this Court and is perfectly fine with 8 me.

9 So why don't you folks paper that, and then I think 10 everybody's needs and concerns will be addressed.

11 MS. RAND-LEWIS: Your Honor, we submitted a 12 stipulation months ago to counsel with those written in. We 13 did a written stipulation, and the stipulation is essentially 14 in exactly the same terms as the submitted order.

15 THE COURT: Well, forgive me for interrupting you, Ms.
16 Rand-Lewis. With the kinds of things that I have on my plate I 17 can't get into the details to the extent of focusing on 18 documents of that character, especially those that may have 19 been submitted days or weeks ago. So --

20 MS. RAND-LEWIS: Our --

21 THE COURT: -- forgive me, please.

22 MS. RAND-LEWIS: We --

23 THE COURT: Work out an order with the debtors. Get 24 both sides to sign it, and I will so order it.

25 MS. RAND-LEWIS: I --

1 THE COURT: You're getting what you're looking for.
2 Is there some reason why I'm having difficulty here?

3 MS. RAND-LEWIS: Not at all, Your Honor. I just 4 wanted to clarify what I was saying. We didn't submit the 5 stipulation to the Court weeks ago. We submitted it to counsel
6 weeks ago. It wasn't implying the Court this happened, 7 stipulation from --

8 THE COURT: Okay.

9 MS. RAND-LEWIS: And that you should have reviewed it.

10 THE COURT: Mr. Karotkin, detail an associate to get 11 this thing done.

12 MR. KAROTKIN: Yes, sir. We will do it right away.

13 THE COURT: Thank you.

14 MS. RAND-LEWIS: Can we get the respective, sort of, 15 return date or date that the matter should be ordered to be 16 completed?

17 THE COURT: Ms. Rand-Lewis, I have rarely, in the nine
18 years and change that I've been a judge or nearly forty years 19 that I've been doing this, that I've had to order parties in my 20 Court to do stuff like that. Unless you have a trial date in 21 the next week I am not of a mind to start now. Mr. Karotkin, 22 get it done as quickly as you can. That's a request, not an 23 order.

24 MR. KAROTKIN: Yes, sir. We will.

25 MS. RAND-LEWIS: Thank you, Your Honor.

1 THE COURT: All right. Have a good day.

2 MS. RAND-LEWIS: Good-bye.

3 THE COURT: Ms. Rand-Lewis, you can leave if you wish.
4 Okay. Go ahead, Mr. Karotkin.

5 MR. KAROTKIN: Your Honor, the next item on the 6 calendar is the motion to approve a settlement with certain 7 labor unions. We noticed this settlement, I believe, as 8 indicated in our papers, to approximately 60,000 of the union 9 retirees who would be affected by this settlement, and we have 10 received one responsive pleading from the IUE which, of course, 11 supports it, since they're a party to the settlement agreement, 12 and we received two letters. I don't know if Your Honor 13 received those letters or not.

14 THE COURT: I think I did.

15 MR. KAROTKIN: They are in the binder, and I really 16 don't know how to address the letters other than these people 17 are just not happy with the settlement. And we understand 18 their unhappiness. However, we don't believe that whatever 19 they have said rises to the level of any basis to deny the 20 relief we're seeking today.

21 I will point out, Your Honor, that the settlement 22 agreement with the IUE and the USW did provide that other, what 23 we call splinter labor unions, could elect to sign on and 24 participate in the unsecured claim, and if Your Honor has the 25 settlement agreement which is annexed to the motion on page 6

1           there is a list of those other splinter unions.  And I'm 2           pleased to say that five of the eight splinter unions listed on 3           that page -- if you'd like I can bring it up.

4                    THE COURT:  No, I have it.  I guess I was scratching
5           my head.  That means that three of them still aren't availing 6           themselves of this?

7                    MR. KAROTKIN:  That is correct.

8                    THE COURT:  Okay.

9                    MR. KAROTKIN:  Three representing about four and a 10          half percent of the entire splinter union population.  Round 11          figures.  So we do have about ninety-five percent who have 12          signed up.  And I will say, Your Honor, that what's called the 13          IAM, which is the first --

14                   THE COURT:  The machinists?

15                   MR. KAROTKIN:  Yes.  It's the first one on page 6.
16          They, back in July, signed a settlement agreement with the 17          debtors resolving their health benefits for the retirees, and 18          you entered an order approving that.  That was done in 19          connection with the closing of the sale.  So they don't have 20          any -- there is no ongoing 1114 issue with these folks who are 21          in the IAM or represented by the IAM.

22                   The IAM, along with a couple of others who had also 23          signed similar settlement agreements back in July, were offered 24          the opportunity to participate in this settlement and 25          participate in the claim.  For reasons that we don't understand

1 the IAM elected not to do that. However, the IAM has told me 2 yesterday that they somehow would like to participate in the 3 claim. And we're still discussing that.

4 THE COURT: So the train hasn't left the station in 5 terms of them being able to climb on this?

6 MR. KAROTKIN: The train has not totally left the 7 station. It is still possible for these other folks to sign on 8 and participate in the claim. And the way the proposed order 9 is drafted it would permit that to happen. The order also does 10 provide, and it's different from what we submitted, after 11 discussions with counsel for the USW and some of the other 12 folks here today, the order does provide that if the others do 13 not sign on by what is called the initial distribution date
14 under a plan in the MLC Chapter 11 case then the un-allocable 15 portion of the billion dollar unsecured claim, which would be 16 attributable to those who didn't sign on, would be reallocated 17 to those who did sign on.

18 So at the end of the day there would be a total of a 19 billion dollar unsecured claim allowed whether or not these 20 three other unions sign on. But, again, it's four and a half 21 percent.

22 THE COURT: So, it being four and a half percent, it 23 won't have a huge dilutive effect upon those who are already 24 with the program.

25 MR. KAROTKIN: Correct.

1 THE COURT: But it would enable them to share --

2 MR. KAROTKIN: Correct.

3 THE COURT: -- if they were to sign up for it.

4 MR. KAROTKIN: Yes, sir. Yes.

5 THE COURT: I understand.

6 MR. KAROTKIN: And, as I understand it, counsel for 7 those people who have signed on, we circulated the proposed 8 order to them over the last couple of days and everyone is on 9 board.

10 THE COURT: Okay. At this point, Mr. Karotkin, I'd 11 like to give Mr. Kennedy or any of the other folks representing 12 union workers the chance to be heard, if you wish. You don't 13 have to be, Mr. Kennedy, but if you'd like to I'll certainly 14 hear what you have to say.

15 MR. KENNEDY: Just, Your Honor, we submitted a 16 statement in support of the settlement. It represents a 17 difficult balancing of a lot of different issues, and a lot of 18 people contributed, and we appreciate the participation by 19 everyone. We did have to deal with that issue about the four 20 and a half percent, and once we secured the recognition that it 21 would be ratably redistributed in the event that there is no 22 participation by the other unions so that the full billion 23 dollars is available for those post-65 employees who do 24 participate in the settlement we're comfortable with the order 25 as drafted.

1 MR. KAROTKIN: If I could just mention something, Your 2 Honor?

3 THE COURT: You bet. Go ahead.

4 MR. KAROTKIN: The billion dollars is not a
5 distribution of a billion dollars, just so --

6 MR. KENNEDY: No, we -- it's a claim. We understand.

7 THE COURT: It's an allowed claim in that amount.
8 Yes.

9 MR. KAROTKIN: It's an allowed claim.

10 MR. KENNEDY: Yes. We --

11 MR. KAROTKIN: Yes. Allowed prepetition unsecured 12 claim.

13 THE COURT: I understand that. I understand.

14 MR. KAROTKIN: Okay.

15 THE COURT: Mr. Kennedy, anything further?

16 MR. KENNEDY: No, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: Any of the other counsel wish to be heard?

18 MR. JURY: Your Honor, David Jury, Associate General
19 Counsel, United Steelworkers. For the very same reasons that 20 Mr. Kennedy set forth in his statement on behalf of the IUE the 21 Steelworkers urges this Court to approve this settlement, which 22 is the product of many months of difficult negotiations. Thank 23 you.

24 THE COURT: Okay. Fair enough. Anyone else?

25 MS. CATON: Your Honor, Amy Caton from Kramer Levin on

1       behalf of the creditors' committee. In case there is any doubt 2       in your mind, the committee clearly supports the settlement and 3       we ask for its approval

4               THE COURT: Very good. I'm not going to make lengthy 5       findings, but I just want to make a couple. One of the most, 6       not necessarily analytically difficult but painful issues I 7       dealt with were those articulated by the IUE and by Mr.
8       Kennedy, on his own union's behalf and on behalf of the other 9       unions similarly situated. And I guess I'm speaking mainly to 10      the few folks who are union members who objected, because their 11      contention was, in essence, the mirror image of those that we 12      bankruptcy judges normally see. Their implication was that 13      this was too good for the estate, whereas most people who 14      object to settlements are contending that it isn't good enough 15      for the estate.

16             I read all of those affidavits by employees before the 17      363 hearing, and I well understood what folks in the unions are 18      going through. By the same token, as a matter of law I 19      couldn't then honor or uphold the union's objection.

20             Under those circumstances I not only find this 21      settlement reasonable in the best interests of the estate, but 22      to the extent it's an issue that I'm allowed to consider I also 23      consider it totally reasonable on behalf of the unions. From a 24      position where they didn't have as strong a legal position as 25      union members might have had, they, nevertheless, got what I

1 think was as good a deal as could be hoped for under the 2 circumstances. And this is a very easy settlement for me to 3 approve from both sides. And for that reason I do.

4 So, Mr. Karotkin, I'll ask you to have one of your 5 folks present an order approving the settlement. Has it 6 already been vetted with the unions and so forth?

7 MR. KAROTKIN: Yes, sir. I believe everybody has 8 signed off on the form of proposed order, and we do have it 9 with us today and we can just give it to your office.

10 THE COURT: And it will be entered today or tomorrow.

11 MR. KAROTKIN: Very well. Thank you, sir.

12 THE COURT: Thank you. To what extent do we have 13 other business?

14 MR. KAROTKIN: We do not.

15 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much, folks.

16 MR. KAROTKIN: Thank you, sir.

17 THE COURT: Have a good day.
